The New York Herald Giving up the Union-Something Practical for the Masses to Consider. Within the last few weeks, we have given

incontestible evidence of a deliberate purpose, formed two years ago and shaped into a well defined organization, and cherished by certain ultra democratic leaders in the South, to dissolve the Union and revolution ize the government of the United States. Every day brings forth additional proof of the entire truth of the allegation. On the 27th we printed extracts from a late letter of Mr. KEITT, a member of Congress from South Carolina, characterized by a lofty tone of defiance, and deliberately declaring his convictions of the duty of the South. All the quotations we have heretofore made were from supporters of Mr. BRECKINRIDGE at the South, which clearly demonstrated what those leaders expected from his candidacy. A conviction of the truth of these charges has at length, found a lodgment in the minds of some men at the North; and this morning we publish the response of the N. Y. Herald, which is earnestly at work for Mr. BRECKIN-RIDGE also, and which, according to the Union and American, "has perhaps a greater influence than any other one paper in the Union with the hundreds and thousands of conserv ative men in the Northern and Middle States engaged in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits." To this response we invite the attention of reflecting men of all parties. It must be remembered that the Herald has repeatedly, of late, expressed the belief, thet the election of Mr. Lincoln is a foregone conclusion; and even in the article under consideration, admits that Mr. Lixcoln "seems morally certain to obtain a majority of votes in the electoral co ge." With this admission, the Herald proceeds to comment upon the letter of Mr. KEITT, which it publishes in the same impression, and that of Mr. YANCEY to Mr. SLAUGHTER, which it mis-dates; and then makes up its mind to see the Union slide. Whatever we may think of the political management of the Herald, whether we regard this as merely and designedly a "sensation be considered as a strategic movement of a posed to do him justice, and we regard Mr. riot, there is no doubt but that it possesses a substantial foundation, that it rests upon a substratum of truth, which should cause all men of all parties and sections to pause and reflect. It foreshadows some of the immediate consequences that are to be anticipated from a continued forcing of sectional issues upon the country. This Northern supporter of BRECKINRIDGE marks the great outline of the result with terrible and fearful clearness. It says the Southern Senators and Representatives in Congress, instead of going to Washington, as they have done throughout a long period of national union and national prosperity-w'll go to Richmond; and if the people of the Union, acting in the usual mode at the ballot-box under the high sanctions of the Constitution, declare against Mr. Breck- the proceedings of the Charleston and Bal- cept perhaps California, but he believed he INRIDGE, they will then and there open a Congress in due form and proclaim Mr. BRECKIN-RIDGE President of the United Southern Republic. The Herald perhaps wisely, refrains unkind spirit, but they were severe in their ern man before Lincoln. ng a picture of the scenes that would follow such action; but with an eye glaring upon the disaster that must follow, seceding delegates for retiring-to-wit : bc- the following resolutions : warns the people to prepare for the coming cause the rights of the South were denied recrisis-that something may be saved from the "wreck" which is to ensue. The August Elections. Several of the Southern States hold elecions early in the month of August-North Carolina on the 2d, and Missouri and Arkansas on the 6th. Full tickets are in the field for State officers in each, but only inMissouri is the division line very distinctly drawn between the friends of BRECKINRIDGE and Douglas. There is also a State Election in Kentucky on the 6th, for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Missouri will choose a Governor and State officers and Seven Congressmen. Four candidates are in the field for Governor-Han-COCK JACKSON, Breckinridge, Democrat; CLAIBORNE F. JACKSON, Douglasite; SAMPLE ORR, Know Nothing or Union; and James B GARDENHIRE, Republican. The Democratic Convention held previous to the Charleston Convention, nominated C. F. JACKSON for Governor. He has been stumping the State for several months. Having recently declared for Douglas, the National Democrats held a Convention and nominated HAN-COCK JACKSON. The vote for Governor, however, will be no test of the relative strength of the Democratic and Douglas parties in Missouri, as Senator GREEN supports C. F. cation of it. JACKSON on the ground that he stands squarely upon the platform erected for him by the Convention that nominated him. Mr GREEN, it will be remembered, is an enthusiastic supporter of the BRECKINRIDGE ticket. The vote, of Missouri for several years has been as follows:

North Carolina votes for Governor and nembers of the Legislature. The candidates for Governor are, John W. Ellis, the present incumbent, Democrat, and John Pool, Opposition. The vote of the State two years ago was, Ellis, Democrat, 56,222; McRae, Independent, 39,965. Gov. ELLIS has declared for BRECKINRIDGE. Mr. Pool is for BELL and

In Kentucky the only State officer to be elected is a Clerk of the Court of Appeals, in place of R. R. REVILL, deceased. The candidates are Leslie Coombs (Bell-Everett,) R. R. Bolling (Douglas.) and Clinton McClar-TY (Breckinridge.)

The Bouglas Meeting Friday Night,

A considerable number of our citizens as sembled at the market house Friday night, moed thereto by a notice in the morning papers that the supporters of the Douglas and Johnson ticket would have a meeting there. At an early hour, Dr. HURLEY, President of the Douglas Association introduced to the audience Hon. D.C. HUMPHREYS, of Alabama. After a brief reference to his descent from Tennessee stock, and his claims to be heard, in support of Douglas and Johnson, he stated that he intended in his speech to prove

The democracy of Alabama had really no sympathy with and could not approve the movement in the State Convention, under his auspices, which led to the secession at Charleston. He spoke of Mr. Yancey's denial that he was a disunionist, quoting and commenting upon his declaration at Baltimore that he was neither for the Union nor against the Union, for disunion nor against disunion. If, said Mr. H., he (Mr. Y.) was not for the Union he would not care if it was destroyed; if he was not against disunion, he would not care if it came. His remarks upon Mr. Y. were forcible and altogether appropriate. As a whole his speech was one of the most effective made here for some time. Made in every county in the State, there would be an end to BRECKINBIDGE-YANCEY-ISM. We have not attempted a sketch of it because we could not do bim justice.

STATE CONVENTION OF THE NATIONAL DEMOCRACY Douglas and Johnson.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CONVENTION. On motion of Dr. Hurley, Hon. V. K. Stevenson, of Davidson, was called to the chair, and Hon. G. B. Peters, of Hardeman, Democratic Senator from that county, was appointed Secretary.

The President then announced that the Convention was ready for any business which might be brought before it.

Hon. H. M. Watterson, of Warren, arose and stated that this was a preliminary meeting, with the object of the appointing of Committees on Resolutions and on Electors for the State at large and for the Districts. At the conclusion of his speech, Mr. Watterson moved the appointment of two committees of five each-one to present to the Convention suitable resolutions, and the other a committee of five on organization. Hon. Wm. H. Polk, of Maury, brother of the late President Polk, seconded the motion, stating that there was a misapprehension as to the hour at which the preliminary meeting of this morning should be held, and the regular convention of this evening, and offered as an amendment, that the committees which should then be appointed by the President, report to the convention at three o'clock in the afternoon. The President then appointed the commit tees as follows: Committee on Organization .- W. P. Bond.

M. Edwards, C. A. Hall, R. H. Williams, and A. D. Taylor. Committee on Resolutions .- H. M. Watterson W. H. Polk, J. L. Hopkins, W. W. Guy, and

The report was received and adopted. The Chairman, Hon, V. K. SEEVENSON, then tendered the Convention his most cordial swer successfully. He clearly proved the first | thanks, for the honor conferred on him. He stated to the Convention, that he could only pledge himself heartily for Douglas and Johnson; he had not mingled much in politics during his life; he had learned, when a boy, to venerate and love General Jackson, and when old enough to take part in the politics of his country, he had co-operated with Judge Catron and Governor Carroll in establishing Democratic principles in this section; that be had assisted at that early day in establishing enemies who have sought to pervert and a Democratic organ in this city-the Union. and that he held a deed of trust on that paper; he didn't know what had become of ithe did know that his money was in it; he had observed the course of the Union at the open ing of this campaign, and believed the course it had taken would have a tendency to ultimately break up the Democratic party; he also stated that his honest convictions were. that when the people could learn all the facts. they would rally to the support of Douglas. A Remarkable Meteor. meteor of unusual size was seen in the East last Friday night, The Philadelphia

About half-past nine a very extraordinary meteor made its appearance in the heavens! The writer was riding in Broad-street, below the city, and had a fair view of the phenomenon in its whole course. The phenomenon at one time seemed to separate like a rocket when it bursts, but the larger portion keeping in a straight course towards the eastward. It was witnessed by many persons, and caused considerable wondernent for the time, and was certainly the most extraordinary appearance that we ever saw in the heavens. In motion it was not so fast apparently, as that of a rocket, though its beight and the vast extent of space that it traversed, proved that its velocity must have exceeded that produced by any known force which we are acquainted with. The phenomenon, from all appearances, must have been

It is not without the gravest apprehension for the future that we regard the present threatening appearance of the political horizon. Ever since the meeting of the Charleston Convention the disunion party in the South has been preparing for the dissolution

Keitt, and the brief, but no less important, letter of the Hon. William L. Yancey, which will be found in our impression of to-day. We are aware that both these rentlemen are ranked as "fire-eaters" at the North, but we know, also, that they represent the general feeling in the cotton States, and that the cry of secession, which was raised four years ago, comes up now with redoubled vigor, and that some of the most prominent

nion men in 1856 are now foremost in the ranks of the seceders.

If we examine Mr. Keitt's argument critically, we shall find that his premises are plainly stated, and his conclusions worked out clearly and logically. He employs no ombastic phrases by way of illustrat his style is calm and temperate, and he writes like a man who expresses the deliberate convictions of a powerful party, rather than one who gives vent to his own crude and ill-digested fancies. In his letter the position of the republican party is fairly stated. He accepts for the party creed Mr. Sumner's view; first, that slavery is barbarous, and the South necessarily in a savage state; second, that the South, being inferior in every way, is to be held tributary to the North, which section is hereafter to be the sole fountain of political power. What follower of Lincoln's banner can deny that these are the issues of his party, as presented by Seward, Sumner. Helper and other leaders and teachers of the republican masses. Mr. Keitt proceeds to prove that the "impending crisis" is upon us -that the "irrepressible conflict" is "a living and terrible reality.' He asks, pertinently, what would have become of the government had the black republicans held the executive power when the John Brown affair took place at Harper's Ferry. His sympathizers would have sided with him as a matter of course, and the land would have been deluged with fraternal blood. The motto of the South is "Equality in the Union, or Independence out of it." If the party which John Brown represented succeed in the next election, "loyalty to the Union will be treason to the South. Mr. Keitt calls for a union of all parties n the South for Breckinridge and Lane, but he has evidently very little hope of their election. He is prepared for the inevitable result. He advises secession, and points the way towards such a consummation, and closes with a description of the rottenness of our political system, in which, though overdrawn, there is too much that is undeniably

The letter of Mr. Yancey advances the same conclusions as that of Mr. Keitt; and since the 10 of June the "League of United Southerners" has not been idle. Already the cotton States are prepared for revolution. The piece is loaded. The torch is lighted. The cannoneer stands by his gun waiting for the fatal signal. It is not alone the evidence of Messrs Keitt and Yancey which we have upon this subject. The influential Southern presses declare that the issue is between the North and the South, as represented by Lincoln and Breckinridge; that the South will be defeated, and that the State Legislatures must be prepared for the worst. In the Gulf States the feeling in favor of secession county Associations, appoint sub-electors for are undecided, and there is a dark cloud which means mischief hanging over Virginia. The great landed proprietors of the South believe that, in the event of Lincoln's election, there would be no adequate security for their property, and they are, therefore, preparing to reassume the powers delegated to the general government. We cannot resist the conviction that they are terribly in earnest. That the South can secede, if united in the movement, there is no reasonable doubt, The vote of that section will be given to Breckinridge and Lane. The Southern Senators and members of the House would go to Richmond instead of Washington. Congress being opened in regular form, Mr. Breckinridge would be declared President of the United Southern republic, and the government may be organized in a week after the result of the November election is made known. There is really nothing to prevent such action on the part of the South, and there is every reason to dread that it may take place. In view of this state of things, we deem i to be our duty to warn parties interested of the danger which threatens them. So far as we can see, the Breckinridge movement at the North will avail nothing. Lincoln will be the Northern President, and Breckinridge the Southern. The confusion into which our commercial and monetary affairs will be thrown cannot be described. Trade will receive a blow compared to which the storm of 1857 was a mere flurry; stocks will go down to within a fraction of nothing; all kinds of property will depreciate in value, and the fortunes accumulated by years of toil will be swept away in a moment. We advise our readers to prepare for the oming crisis. Between this time and Novem per something may be saved from the wreck. Merchants who have dealings with Southern raders will do well to close us such affairs as soon as possible. Holders of Southern State railway or city stocks, or securities of the general government, should realize upon them at once. Bankers at home and abroad should prepare themselves for the inevitable panie in financial affairs. The crisis is imninent. The dissolution of the Union is a fact already determined upon. Let us be prepared to meet the doom which the trading politicians and crazy fanatics of the day have precipitated upon the republic.

John C. Brown's letter of Acceptance Bailey's Springs, Ala., July 12, 1860. GENTLEMEN:-I am in receipt of your fafor of the 7th inst., informing me of my nomination for Elector of the 7th Congression al District of the State of Tennessee, on the National Union Ticket, by the convention which met at Waynesboro on the 5th inst. While I consider it a high compliment to be chosen as one of the standard bearer in a crisis, second only to one in importance in American history, for the good of our great and glorious cause, I would have been gratified had the convention nominated some one else. My recent ill health has rendered any active participation in the canvass doubtful. But being now unengaged in the hepe of a speedy recovery, and being not only willing, but anxious to do battle in a cause that acdresses itself to the heart of every man who loves his country, and desires the perpetuity and integrity of our Union, with all its con stitutional rights, I cannot not now decline the position you have tendered me. And to soon as I am able, I shall lend every energy of my nature to the advancement of our timehonored and glorious principles. Please accept the assurance of my warm est thanks for the pleasant terms in which you have made known to me the action of the convention you represent. Respectfully Yours,

THE Tax Books for State and County and Raiirond are now ready for 1860. Tax payers will please come forward to the office n the Court House, where we will be found until the 27th of August, after that time we will be absent attending the different Districts, except Saturday. The law in regard to collecting taxes is that after visiting each District we must immediately commence by distress or otherwise, which will necessarily be an additional expense of fifty cents to all we call on after the first of October, and after the first of November our Deputies are allowed by law the same fees as Sheriff's for collecting debts. As we wish to collect all the Taxes for 1860 IN THE YEAR 1860, all that have not paid by the first of November, must expect to find them in the hands of Deputies or Constables.
